Kennedy King Chartered Accountants - Australian Accountants Directory Kennedy King is a Chartered Accounting firm based in Richmond, Melbourne. The company has been established with a focus on providing compliance and reporting services as required by the various governmental agencies, but to provide additional value added services which aides our clients into making meaningful management decisions to build their business. Kennedy King's two founding directors, John Kennedy and Sally King, lead a team of highly motivated staff to provide a range of services to our clients. The company understands that every client is different - be that in their respective fields of business, to that of their individual needs. In acknowledging this, it aims to provide value added services which are meaningful and specific to its clients needs. Kennedy King draws on the technical knowledge and professional relationships developed by John Kennedy and Sally King throughout their experiences over the past 25 years. Throughout this time, experience has highlighted one important factor: to be able to provide a level of service that is superior. The company is able to access professionals who specialise in a particular industry or field of expertise. From this, it can work in conjunction with these people and provide our clients a level of service that is professional and progressive, and equally of importance, is cost effective.
