Collie Miners Credit Union Ltd

Collie Miners Credit Union Ltd is a member owned cooperative and financial mutual which is 100 percent committed to its members -maritime, mining and power workers, and the Australian communities it serves. Based in Collie, Australia and operational since 1970, Collie Miners Credit Union offers a complete range of financial services including savings accounts, term deposits, home loans, personal loans, insurance and financial planning. Today the credit union has over 34,500 members and assets of over $817 million. The company originally catered only to employees of the maritime industry and their families but gradually expanded to serve members in the mining and power industries, their families and the local communities. Formerly known as Collie Miners Co-operative Credit Union Society Limited, it changed its name to Collie Miners Credit Union Ltd. in March 1984. On 19 March 2015, Collie Miners Credit Union became a division of Maritime, Mining & Power Credit Union.

The company is committed to lifelong financial prosperity, security and dignity of its members. With over 26 branches across Australia and Business Development Officers covering Metro, coastal, rural and regional areas in NSW, QLD and TAS, it puts members before profits. Any surplus profit gained by the company is returned back to its members through lower interest on loans, higher savings and term deposit rates as well as personal service and convenient access, without the excessive fees and charges. This result in delivering all round financial value, service and care for its members.
